TEXT 1: RESCUE DOG TO BECOME DISNEY STAR KEY

- 1 In a real-life case of becoming famous overnight, a dog abandoned at a kill shelter has been chosen by Disney to play Tramp
2 in the live-action remake of the animated classic Lady and the Tramp. All thanks to Hollywood, Monte, an adorable two-year-old
3 terrier mix, has left his dog days behind and is now living the American dream.
4 While Monte was at the shelter, he was discovered by a professional trainer, who immediately fell in love with him. He chose
5 the dog for the role, trained him for the movie, and finally adopted him. Monte has so much love to give that even Justin Theroux,
6 the actor who voices him in the movie, cannot get enough of his cuteness.
7 Justin used his Instagram to share the dog's inspiring story with the world and urged everybody to adopt pets instead of buying
8 and breeding them. And it's working. Thousands of people have come forward, promoting the adoption of animals in need.
9 The Instagram post has since received a lot of positive reactions, and the Internet is in love with the real-life Tramp. Justin also 10 revealed that Disney used a lot of other rescue dogs in the making of Lady and the Tramp. On average, more than 1.5 million
11 animals living in shelters are euthanized globally every year. The statistics are heartbreaking, but true.
12 Monte the Tramp got his happy ending, but there are many others just waiting in kill shelters to get adopted before they are 13 forced to meet their premature deaths. A little kindness on your part can save a poor animal's life. Give them a chance.

TEXT 2: FIRST NASA ALL-FEMALE SPACEWALK KEY

- 1 Two astronauts will make history as the first ever all-female team to conduct a spacewalk. Christina Koch and Jessica Meir,
2 both NASA astronauts, are carrying out a spacewalk outside the International Space Station (ISS) in order to replace a faulty 105kg
3 battery. In the process, they will become the first female-only team to spacewalk, 54 years after Russian cosmonaut Alexei Leonov
4 first stepped into space.
5 The historic event has taken on an even greater significance because of a widely reported incident which took place earlier
6 this year. Back in March, Koch and another astronaut were announced to undertake the first ever all-female EVA (extravehicular
7 activity), but it was cancelled when it became apparent that there was only one medium-sized spacesuit in the space station. The 8 several large and extra-large sizes available at the station were not a perfect fit for the female astronauts, and this could cause
9 trouble during their space work.
10 The new mission is expected to last 5.5 hours and, if time allows, the astronauts will not only replace the battery but also carry
11 out some other minor jobs around the station. Cameras mounted on the astronauts' helmets will show their work in detail as they
12 move around the exterior of the station, a harness keeping them safely close to the base throughout the operation. Viewers
13 watching the live stream will be able to identify Koch and Meir by their space suits —Koch's will have red stripes, while Meir's will 14 be unmarked.
15 Koch is an experienced astronaut and is set to break another record —her expected 328-day stay in space will be the longest 16 single spaceflight ever carried out by a woman.

CHOOSE AND WRITE THE CORRECT OPTION (A, B, C or D). (0.5 points each)

10. The first ever planned all-female EVA didn't take place because... (c)
(a) the task was too hard for female astronauts. (b) the harness could not be attached to the station.
(c) NASA didn't have enough proper suits in the station. (d) there were no suits in the space station.
