

The University of Queensland

Ranked among the top 100 universities in the world* The University of Queensland (UQ) is one of Australia's premier learning and research institutions. 45,500 students study at UQ, 11,300 are international.

The University constantly strives to deliver excellence in the areas of Learning, Discovery and Engagement so UQ students graduate with an education that is not only comprehensive and high-quality, but is practical, relevant and globally minded.

LEARNING

Students learn from teachers who have won more teaching awards than teachers at any other Australian university, and can choose from over 375 programs, at undergraduate, postgraduate and research higher degree levels, in diverse areas across six faculties.

DISCOVERY

The University has eight world class research institutes, and researchers whose innovations are having a global impact, including the creation of a cervical cancer vaccine, breakthroughs in dengue fever prevention, and the installation of the largest photovoltaic solar panel in the southern hemisphere. As a UQ student you have the opportunity to be taught by and work alongside these researchers.

ENGAGEMENT

UQ students can engage with the national and international community through worldwide internship opportunities in diverse program areas, field trips with destinations ranging from tropical Heron Island in North Queensland to Hong Kong, student exchanges, and study abroad opportunities. Since 2006 over 900 UQ students have spent a semester abroad with one of our partner institutions.

It's a thorough approach, which gives UQ students the solid practical and theoretical grounding they need for their career. And it's why in the 2011 Employer Review of the QS Rankings of World Universities The University was ranked 51st in the world for graduate employability.
